

At Dickerson Center for Children, our main mission is to provide a healing environment that addresses the effects of child abuse.

As a not-for-profit organization, DCC relies on the gracious donations of concerned individuals and businesses. These donations have helped DCC operate as a “one stop” resource center since 1995 and have assisted countless physically and sexually abused children begin the crucial healing process. Our facility has become a “safe house” for children who face the horrendous affects of abuse. This is possible only through public and private contributions that allow us to operate as a place of healing and hope for children.

DCC needs your support so that we may continue to offer help and hope for the very special victims of physical and sexual abuse. Remember that DCC is a 501 (c) 3 corporation and all contributions are tax deductible.

hysically or sexually abused children require compassion and special nurturing. They and their families also need caring and specifically trained individuals in order to begin to cope and to heal. At Dickerson Center for Children (DCC), our main mission is to provide a healing environment that addresses the effects of child abuse. From administering mental and physical healthcare to assisting with complicated legal matters, DCC provides comprehensive support and resources for children who have been physically or sexually abused. Their needs are critical.

Our professional staff helps these special children and their families begin the healing process by providing emotional and physical support. The center helps to reduce further trauma and promote emotional healing through a “one-stop” comprehensive physical and mental assessment by trained professionals. Our staff collaborates with cooperating agencies such as the Department of Social Services, state and local law enforcement agencies, the Guardian Ad Litem Program, the Solicitor’s Office, and Community Mental Health. By providing all services under one roof, Dickerson Center for Children can offer a comprehensive and inclusive assessment and treatment plan for children and their families.

- Reduce the trauma experienced by children who have been physically or sexually abused
- Gather evidence through forensic evaluation and medical examinations to assist in the prosecution of abuse cases
- Provide ongoing therapy to assist children in dealing with their abuse
- Provide case consultation and coordination services to other providers

Beyond our association with medical and legal professionals, DCC has an onsite staff that includes a local pediatrician who serves as Medical Director. In addition, our staff includes licensed clinical psychologists, LMSW’s, and a volunteer group of registered nurses.

The specialty care clinic provides medical exams, forensic interviews, and counseling Monday through Friday during business hours as well as (or, with) some extended hours. Additional support services include:

- Crisis management
- Children’s advocacy
- Follow-up services
- Community education programs
- Information and referral services

Located at 1615 Augusta Road in West Columbia, Dickerson Center for Children is a child-focused facility designed to treat children between the ages of 0 and 18. Seventy-five percent of the children we treat are under the age of 10.

Your contribution can help give healing and hope to a child.
